

Reaping What We Sow – Insulated Bubbles of Reality (v2)

This is elucidating how we are preventing ourselves from self-correcting our mistakes, through all the controls and restrictions upon our freedom and personal responsibility.

When things operate normally, we all see and can feel the consequences of how we all choose to affect this planet. But when we choose to ignore, or are forced to ignore and be made ignorant of the reciprocal consequences to our behavior, then we can simply and easily let things continue along a false path and way in life.

Ignorance is not bliss. Truth will set us free.

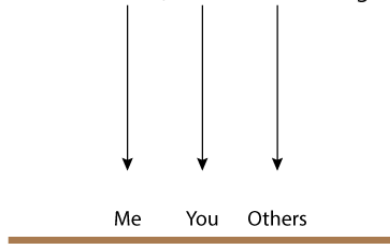

Reaping What We Sow, Good or Bad – Causal Moral Law

INSULATED BUBBLES OF REALITY

evolveconsciousness.org

Reaping what we sow (Causal Moral Law)

Manifested Reality Reciprocating On Us
Collective "Karma", We're All in This Together

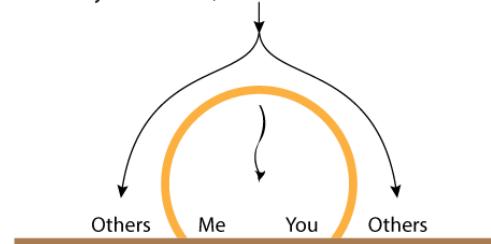

In normal situations of direct influence, we have nowhere to go but to be affected by reality. We are all affected by what we choose to live by. What we create into the world affects us back. We all get hit by the general aggregate consequences of the behaviors we live by.

Do right, get right. Do wrong, get wrong. We act, and receive the result. Truth or Consequence. Be Right or Go Wrong.

Reaping what we sow (Causal Moral Law)

Manifested Reality Reciprocating On Us
Delayed "Karma", Some Are Not in This Yet

In some cases, we have insulation bubbles around us. Some of us don't feel the full effects, or any at all, yet.

We create systems of dependence, and don't understand the consequences that are produced outside of our current perception. We can be insulated for some time in this attempt to separate ourselves within a system and particular worldview. Eventually, the system cannot hold back the consequences that we push onto others. Eventually, the system fails to provide its insulatory capacity and visible problems manifest to reflect the wrong Path and Way of living.

Manifested Reality Reciprocating On Us

Collective "Karma", We're All in This Together

In normal situations of direct influence, we have nowhere to go but to be affected by reality. We are all affected by what we choose to live by. What we create into the world affects us back. We all get hit by the general aggregate consequences of the behaviors we live by.

Do right, get right. Do wrong, get wrong. We act, and receive the result. Truth or Consequence. Be Right or Go Wrong.

Manifested Reality Reciprocating On Us

Delayed “Karma”, Some Are Not in This Yet

In some cases, we have insulation bubbles around us. Some of us don't feel the full effects, or any at all, yet.

We create systems of dependence, and don't understand the consequences that are produced outside of our current perception. We can be insulated for some time in this attempt to separate ourselves within a system and particular worldview. Eventually, the system cannot hold back the consequences that we push onto others. Eventually, the system fails to provide its insulatory capacity and visible problems manifest to reflect the wrong Path and Way of living.

 Revised version of one of my older infographics.*